

LifeCell gets CAP

accreditation: LifeCell international, a well-known umbilical stem cell bank, has received accreditation from the College of American Pathologists (CAP) under their laboratory accreditation programme. A press release from LifeCell said the accreditation is given on the basis of excellence and compliance to international regulatory quality and safety standards. The accreditation positions LifeCell on the international quality compliance platform as it joins 7000 other laboratories in the world who have already been awarded with it.